As market demands are generating opportunities in any business, Georgia as transit region with great potential being a transportation hub between Asia and Europe drew TAV Airports Holding's attention. The dominance of these factors attributed two investment projects accomplished by TAV Holding as Tbilisi and Batumi International Airports, bringing at the same time its huge experience in aviation to Georgia.

We measure our success through our customers' satisfaction, and once they are pleased with our service and performance, our main goal is achieved. As extensive business company, we support growth and innovations in our sphere of activity and we are making efforts to become the premier in the region's aviation industry.

We are focused on growing our current business and to represent excellently the leading role we play in the aviation transport industry in the Caucasus region.

We are all in a tough economic climate right now, but we have built the Global Aviation Holding's fleet in Georgia as part of TAV holding to accommodate future demand. We have two excellent projects in Georgia, Tbilisi and Batumi International Airports. We have served more than one million passengers so far and under our holding company, TAV Georgia will continue to provide excellent service and commodity for all of our customers, just as we do up today.
