

RAKIA GEORGIA FIZ LLC established the first free industrial zone in the Caucasus region at Poti in Georgia. Our company was created in June 2008 by RAK Investment Authority (RAKIA). RAKIA has wide experience in developing & managing free industrial zones in various parts of the world.

Our project - Poti FIZ, covering the territory of 300 hectares, is situated on historic Silk Road between East & West. With the investment of more than 200 million USD including the investment in the Poti Sea Port, we will have world class state of art infrastructure, modern warehousing complex, container storage areas, business centers, etc.

It's always about location, isn't it? Georgia's position in Europe, on the Black Sea and its highly developed transport and communications make it ideally placed to reach markets across both Europe and Asia. But it wasn't just geography that brought us here. Of all the world's free industrial zones, I'd say Poti in Georgia is the freest: duty- and Tax-free, naturally, and also free of the restrictions that hold back businesses elsewhere. When the Georgians say free they actually mean it.

We've found their entrepreneurial spirit matches ours and we're now the biggest overseas investor here. In our experience it's rare that government and business want to head in the same direction.
